

Interim Management

Many businesses suffer due to leadership issues or because the leaders are so involved in fire-fighting, there's no clarity of vision for moving forward.

Interim management provides space to think and brings new impetus in to the business. By placing someone from Rowan in your organisation, we can bring an independent, fresh perspective, and get to work immediately and turn things around.

Whether it is strategy, sales or product, we have the people with the right experience.